ADULT LEARNING CENTRES

An adult learning centre is a community partnership, which provides adult learners who are 19 years of age and older with opportunities to develop employment skills, enhance their academic qualifications and engage in life long learning. The centres or programs offer a variety of Senior 1 to Senior 4 high school credit courses. They enable learners to complete the Mature Student Diploma Program, obtain the necessary courses as a prerequisite for attending post-secondary institutions or become more competitive for new employment opportunities.

In addition to the Senior 1 to Senior 4 credit courses, adult learning centres may provide the following courses or other services:

DUAL CREDIT COURSES

Courses where you can receive credit for both high school and post secondary programs.

PRIOR LEARNING ASSESSMENT AND RECOGNITION (PLAR)

PLAR is a process used to identify, document, assess and recognize skills and knowledge. Learning takes place in many situations including: work, hobbies, family, military, volunteer activities, travel, independent study, formal education, and workplace training. In PLAR, individuals prove learning in a variety of ways.

NC (NON-CREDIT) ACADEMIC

Academic courses that do not count towards a mature student high school diploma such as literacy or adult basic education courses.

NC (NON-CREDIT) VOCATIONAL

Customized or "fee for service" courses linked to business/industry or for general interest purposes such as resume writing, interviewing or career exploration courses.

Program Description:
The Specialty Literacy Project is geared towards teaching mentally disabled adults the skills they require to become independent in their daily living, to have a sense of self-worth, to build their self-esteem and to give them the confidence in the learning process.

There is considerable potential for literacy to become a means for achieving the goals of community integration and increasing independence for adults with mental disability. One of the few reviews on literacy issues and adults with mental disability suggests that literacy is not only a means to increased "competence" in the community. It is also a means of access to experiences of daily life, which many adults have been denied because of the protective nature of the environment in which they have lived.

All courses are timetabled in our regular school schedule and setting. Adult education students have their own classroom including computers (two with Internet access). All courses are delivered in module form so students set the pace in which they pursue the course. A homework website for all of adult education courses is planned to set up by Christmas.

All courses are taught by qualified teachers who have been specifically trained to teach their subject area (a trained math teacher will teach our math courses). Many of the courses offered in our regular school timetable are also offered in our adult education program (computer, chemistry, biology, pre-calculus, accounting and English Literature).

Program Description:
The Portage Learning and Literacy Centre provides adult-focused programs from basic literacy and numeracy all the way to Grade 12. It also provides Family Literacy, employment programs and English as a Foreign Language services.

The Centre runs all year with two or more intake sessions each month. Applicants contact the Centre in person, or by phone, fax or e-mail. We then arrange an appointment at the Centre to explore educational history, academic levels and to discuss goals. A program of study, schedules and a start date are then arranged.

Programs can be full-time or part-time depending on a learner's other commitments and sponsorship arrangements. All learners are required to make regular progress. Programs can be delivered in small group settings, or individually. The Centre's Family Literacy and English as a Foreign Language programs take place off-site.

The Centre is able to assist learners with transportation and other supports on a case-by-case basis. A certified onsite daycare is available.

All Centre services are free.

Program Description:
The Centre is an alternative classroom that supports adult learners as well as underage learners needing alternatives to the traditional high school setting. The Centre is considered a satellite classroom to W.C. Miller Collegiate, and is the Altona site for Campus Manitoba.

Courses include Senior 1-4 core academic courses, computers, keyboarding, accounting, and family studies. See our website for course descriptions and details. Most courses are individualized to meet the needs of learners. The centre also has continuous intake. A computer management system, Odyssey, is used to manage each learner's courses.

Learning is self-directed. With the support of teachers and educational assistants, learners establish goals for their progress in courses. Choice is provided through activities, projects, and assessments. Practical and real life projects are woven through courses when and where applicable.

Base line computer training is available and is also an expectation for students at the Centre. The Centre has established partnerships with local business to support learners, promote the Centre and offer training specific to business needs.

Program Description:
A flexible, self-paced program available four afternoons and two evenings per week. Includes computer, group settings, referrals, one to one tutoring, GED preparation and Pre-Mature High School Diploma preparation.

Family Literacy Description:
We are a community-based Family Literacy Program incorporating aspects of the Parent Child Mother Goose model. We have extended the Program to include a focus on books. Parents of pre-school children are involved in learning to read children's literature with a focus on interactive strategies to share the books with their children. Our aims and objectives are to enhance the reading, writing and communication growth of our participants by building on the oral language awareness and competency developed via the Mother Goose model. We offer weekly sessions during which parents focus on books, rhymes, songs, and stories with their children and then separate to focus on books and bookmaking while their children simultaneously do activities based on a weekly theme.

Note: Rhyme and Reading Circle time is included (Wednesday a.m. - 10:00 a.m. - noon).
